Creative Writing – Story Writing (Fantasy story)

- Fantasy stories are set in imaginary worlds with imaginary characters.
- They may feature magical and supernatural elements that do not exist in the real world. The settings and characters are not from the real world.
- Some famous fantasy stories include Alice in Wonderland, Harry Potter, The Hobbit, Cinderella, Jack and the Beanstalk, etc.
- The story must have an attractive title.
- Most fantasy stories start with ‘Once upon a time’, ‘Long time ago’, ‘In a distant kingdom’, ‘Faraway in the deep woods’, etc.
- The story is mainly written in 3 parts: Beginning, Middle, End

Beginning: This includes setting the scene. (When and where does the story take place?) and describes the characters. (Mostly the main character.)	Character 	There is an imaginary creature like a superhero, fairy, monster, elf, troll, dragon, wizard, witch, dwarf, unicorn, demon, magical creature or anything that is not real. The characters have magical powers. The main characters are sometimes ordinary, sometimes magical. Mostly unaware of their powers.
	Setting 	The setting is a distant time and place. An enchanted forest, castle, make-believe kingdom, in the woods, a magical land, etc.
Middle: includes the main problem in the story or the struggle of the main character. All the magical events happen here.	Plot/Quest 	There is normally a reason for the fantasy journey to take place. To save someone, to return to the real world, to find an object or a mission to accomplish. The character is on a journey away from home. On the way, they face different dangers and magical events. The plot is a fight between good and evil.
End: gives the answer or solution to the problem. Always good wins over evil in the end.
